Executive Producer Thomas Abdul Salaam (the Twin Servant of Peace), will do the honors of quizzing call-in contestants with questions from the category of Africa America and Islam. It may not be as easy as it sounds since questions may cover the history of Muslims in America since before Columbus to the present.

Listeners can tune in starting 7am EST Friday, February 7. Each week through February 28, one winner will be the American Muslim 360 Scholar of the Week. To participate in the contest, dial into the show at (646) 716-4478. Tune in www.blogtalkradio/americanmuslim360.com, or www.americanmuslim360.com, or listen on the phone.

The Contest will be held once a week during one of three program times: Monday’s 7am The Power-2BU, Wednesday’s 8pm Straight Up or Friday’s 7am Study of God.

Gift prizes courtesy of FAMACO Publishers will be awarded and may include books, Calendars, DVDs, CDS, and more!

American Muslim 360 is known for its history making broadcasts and is recognized as one of the major Muslim media influencers in America. FAMACO Publishers, producer of Remaking Our World Calendar, Genesis of New American Leadership, and the FAMACO

Dawah Greeting Card, is a national retailer. Mukhtar Muhammad, vice president of FAMACO states, “We’re honored to co-sponsor the Contest and have an opportunity to work with other Muslim businesses serving our community. Often times, the contributions of our pioneers are overlooked since they’re less known by the larger ethnic body. To help sponsor an event recognizing African American Muslim contributions during February’s celebration and American Muslim 360’s Year of Shuraa is very special for us.”
