About MUKHTAR MUHAMMAD

Mukhtar Muhammad is a managing partner, co-founder and vice president of FAMACO Publishers, LLC and famacopublishers.com which has grown to become one of the largest retail websites serving the Muslim Community. Over the past 17 years, FAMACO has also become a major force integrating business and dawah with such landmark publications as Remake the World: Tribute to the Leadership of Imam W. Deen Mohammed, the FAMACO Dawah Greeting Card...the only Islamic greeting card published for a general American audience, and of course Genesis of New American Leadership: Building the Community Life.

As vice president, he manages the company's growth and strategic direction including leveraging resources to help Muslim authors, artists, and producers get their products before a wider Muslim and non-Muslim audience, assisting communities with national fundraising, and sponsoring the Words Make People (WMP) Literary Excellence & Scholarship Award. He is Chair of the WMP National Scholarship Committee, a strategic and policy advisor to the Islamic Center of Orange Park Florida and author of the blog Genesis of New American Leadership – Online...faith based knowledge and tools for institutional and community excellence.

The devoted husband of 23 years and father was born a third generation Muslim. He has served the Muslim and broader communities in many leadership roles including Islamic Affairs Council advisor to Imam W. D. Mohammed, a leadership and management consultant to masjid and Islamic Centers nationwide, and an enlisted and commissioned officer in the U. S. Navy. He holds undergraduate and graduate degrees in business and systems management, marketing and human resources development.
