

The “Book Men Interviews” with Imam Faheem Shuaibe

GENESIS OF NEW AMERICAN LEADERSHIP

Utilized as a curriculum based text at the high school and university levels; studied inside and outside the Association of Imam W. Deen Mohammed; present in the collections of academic and research libraries across the nation including the prestigious Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture and in libraries from Great Britain to Pakistan...it is the text from which organizations in the Association of Imam Mohammed adapted their mission statements. Now Genesis of New American Leadership enters its third printing.

Toward Community Excellence

Imam Faheem Shuaibe and FAMACO Publishers Qalam Books invite you to a conversation with Hajji Mukhtar Muhammad, author of Genesis of New American Leadership and Vice President of FAMACO Publishers.

The author will appear November 21, 2011, at 6 p.m. EST on a Special Series entitled “The Book Men Interviews.” Listeners may call (626) 414-3537 or log on <http://www.blogtalkradio.com/faheem-shuaibe> and join the discussion.

The Book Men Interviews is a series being hosted by Imam Shuaibe on Muslim American writers scheduled to air November 7 through November 28. The Series focuses on authors influenced by the leadership of Imam W. Deen Mohammed (raa). Other scheduled authors include: Imam Khalid Lateef (To Be Human: Life Changing Insights from Around the World), Nazim Rasheed (Reconnected: How to Be A Mentor to Your Child-Self), Andre Masud (Journal of An American Muslim), Imam Mikal Saahir (The Honorable Elijah Muhammad: The Man Behind The Men), Dr. Jamal Rasheed (Positive Solutions to Improve Our Lives), Imam Shahid Abdullah (Success Is Automatic), and Imam Omar Hazim (Islam in the Heartland of America).

A national speaker on leadership, management and organization issues, Mukhtar is a third generation Muslim American leader and former member of the ASM Islamic Affairs Council and National Steering Committee for Professional Development for American Muslims in association with the leadership of Imam W. Deen Mohammed. He holds a B.S. in Systems Management and Marketing and an M.A. in Business Management and Human Resources Development, is vice president of FAMACO Publishers, and serves on the Strategic Planning Board and Advisory Council for the Islamic Center of Orange Park Florida.

A recipient of numerous awards including the General Dynamics Outstanding Achievement and Navy Achievement Medals, the former enlisted and commissioned naval officer has held professional responsibilities in strategic planning and served as executive advisor to several non-profits. A consultant to masjid nationwide, he has served as an MSA president, Convener Majlis Ash-Shura, and aide to several imams.

In 2001, Mukhtar led the call and strategy session for the emergency assembly of the Islamic Affairs Council to address 911 terrorism and other national leadership concerns. In February 2004, he was part of a U.S. State Department initiative to meet with provincial governors and other leaders from Afghanistan to address democracy, diversity, and Islam in America. Later in March, he served as Islamic representative at the United Methodist Church’s annual national workshop on interfaith cooperation. In 2005, Mukhtar represented Muslim Journal at the grand opening of the Muhammad Ali Center, producing an acclaimed series of essays on the Life of Muhammad Ali and his dawah impact. In 2010 he led FAMACO’s design team in producing the historic commemorative calendar Remake the World and co-founded the national Words Make People (WMP) Literary Excellence Scholarship and WMP National Scholarship Committee. Mukhtar is a proud dad and has been married for almost 22 years.
